Interesting Facts for the Week

California interesting facts:

A lion's roar is so loud that it can be heard from up to five miles away. A male lion weighs about 500 pounds and grows to eight feet in length. It sounds impressive, but tigers are actually larger, reaching 850 pounds and 11 feet long. Even though lions are known as "King of the Jungle," they live in grasslands and plains – not the jungle. Also unusual in the animal kingdom, female lions do the hunting (usually in groups) while male lions stay home and watch over the pride. The males, however, are first to eat when the female lions come home with their kill. Female lions, sisters, live together for life. Their female cubs also stay with the pride, even after they're grown, but male cubs must venture out on their own once they reach maturity. Male lions have majestic manes that make them appear larger and more intimidating. Female lions are also attracted to fuller, thicker manes. Lions once lived in Europe, Africa, the Middle East, North America, and Northern India. Now lions primarily live in Africa, aside from a small group (about 300) Asiatic lions that live in India's Gir Forest.

- ⊙ The annual faculty Christmas party is on the Friday workday (this year it's the 22nd) at lunch. The meal is provided, and we will have a "Rob Your Neighbor" gift exchange. The gifts can be legitimate gifts that people might actually want, or they could be of the white elephant persuasion. It all depends on which you value; the dejected or elated look on the face of the person that opens your gift. It's your call.
- ⊙ The Christmas Music Concert is scheduled for Tuesday, December 19th @ 7:00.
- ⊙ Board meeting—Tuesday, December 19th @ 5:30.
