Weeks of April 5-10, 2021

Interesting Facts for the Week

In 1996 in the village of Stokeinteignhead, Devon, England for more than a year, Neil Simmons went out into his garden every evening and mimicked the calls of the owls but they never replied. Until one evening, they began to hoot back at him. Mr. Simmons, 41, was delighted and logged each occasion when his imitations met with a hooted response. But unbeknown to him, Fred Cornes, 58, his neighbor, was also hooting at the owls and was equally delighted to be receiving a response. The exchange continued for almost a year before they realized what was happening.

The new German armed forces are a different sort than their predecessors. German law forbids the use of its military to do anything other than defend Germany itself, though the military does participate in some humanitarian and NATO coalition missions. Instead of blind obedience, the military emphasizes "Innere Führung," a hard-to-translate concept that centers the military experience on the inner conscience of each individual. As a result, many German soldiers refuse combat assignments or disobey orders—with no consequence.
